Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Data Analyst - Digital Marketing role at LawDepot in Edmonton. I already run paid search and performance reporting in a hands-on agency setting: Google Ads and Meta campaigns for 2 active SMB accounts at Lumin Marketing Group, with clear KPI summaries and next-step recommendations. Google Ads Certified, plus practical AI workflows with Claude and Claude Code that save about 20 hours per week on research, drafting, and ops (human review before publish).

How I would support LawDepot's Performance Marketing work:

- Own day-to-day paid search hygiene: keywords, search queries, bids/budgets, and creative tests tied to conversions
- Turn campaign and financial data into concise recommendations stakeholders can act on
- Use GA4, Google Search Console, and Sheets reporting to monitor quality and spot variance early
- Apply Claude and Claude Code for analysis support and faster drafting, with human review before anything goes live

Education is a high school diploma rather than a post-secondary analysis degree. My case is built on shipped paid-media work, Google Ads Certified credentials, the Google AI Professional Certificate, and hybrid availability in Edmonton. I would welcome a conversation about joining the LawDepot team.

Best regards,

Dylan Michael
