Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the SEO Strategist role with NP Digital Canada (remote). I own SEO end to end for 2 active SMB client accounts at Lumin Marketing Group: keyword research, technical and on-page work, SERP tracking in SEMrush and Search Atlas, and conversion-focused site updates. I am used to client-facing reporting and turning audits into a prioritized plan. Practical AI workflows with Claude and Claude Code support research and drafting, with human review before publish.

How I would contribute on day one:

- Run SEO account rhythm: audits, keyword mapping, on-page/technical recommendations, and monthly performance storytelling
- Pair organic work with clear GA4 and Google Search Console evidence so clients see what changed and why
- Collaborate with content and paid teams so SEO recommendations fit a full digital plan
- Use Claude and Claude Code to speed research and first drafts while keeping quality control human

Honest gaps: my SEO ownership is strongest on SMB accounts rather than Fortune 500 brands, and I am based in Edmonton (eligible to work in Canada; open to light travel). Education is a high school diploma; my case is shipped client SEO results (including a 30% organic traffic lift at Phantom Avenue), Google Ads Certified credentials, and the Google AI Professional Certificate. I would welcome a conversation about supporting NP Digital's Canadian SEO practice.

Best regards,

Dylan Michael
