Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Digital Marketing Manager role at Directive (remote Canada; listed internally as Demand Generation Manager). I live in Edmonton with current Canadian work authorization. Directive's IC ownership model for a small SMB book matches how I already work: own the channels, talk to the client, and keep projects moving without waiting for someone else to notice a blocker. At Lumin Marketing Group I own multi-channel delivery for 2 active SMB accounts across Google Ads, Meta, SEO, Go High Level follow-up, and GA4 reporting. I am Google Ads Certified.

How I would support Directive demand gen for SMB clients:

- Own paid and organic execution for assigned accounts: Google Ads, Meta, SEO basics, and clear next-action reporting
- Handle client communication with calm, honest status and prioritized recommendations
- Project-manage deliverables so deadlines do not arrive as surprises
- Use Claude and Claude Code to speed research, testing notes, and drafts, with human review before publish

I am honest that deep B2B SaaS marketplace specialization, CRO as a primary craft, and a full book of up to seven tech accounts are still growing versus Directive's demand-gen bench; my current book is two SMB accounts. What transfers is agency-side ownership, paid plus SEO execution, client-facing communication, and active use of AI for marketing ops. Please confirm base compensation clears CAD $60k. Resume attached.

Best regards,

Dylan Michael
