Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Performance Marketing Lead role at Roveia / Roveir (fully remote, CAD $55,000--$80,000). I live in Edmonton and can work asynchronously on a remote team. At Lumin Marketing Group I own agency-style Google Ads and Meta execution for SMB clients: builds, budgets, creative tests, and reporting that explains what to do next. Your posting asks for agency experience across multiple accounts; that is how I already work as co-founder and Marketing Director.

How I would support Roveia performance clients:

- Execute Meta and Google campaigns day to day: structure, bidding support, creative rotation, and paced optimization
- Report clearly on efficiency metrics and next tests, not only platform screenshots
- Support YouTube / LinkedIn / TikTok when the plan calls for it, with Meta and Google as the core
- Use Claude and Claude Code for research and creative angles, with human review before publish

I am honest that sustained $20K--$200K+ monthly multi-account books, telehealth patient-acquisition depth, and large creative-testing systems are still growing versus my current two SMB accounts. What transfers is agency ownership, Google Ads Certification, hands-on Meta and Google execution, and practical AI leverage. Please confirm base is at least CAD $60,000 within the posted band. Resume attached.

Best regards,

Dylan Michael
